All our Entrees are prepared to order.
Please allow us the time to prepare your food carefully and to your satisfaction.

The word "Buccaneer" comes from the French "boucanier," meaning "to smoke meat on a wooden frame." To provision their ships for long voyages, the pirates slaughtered West Indian cattle and prepared the meat by smoking and drying.

The Legend Of

The Buccaneer Inn

Welcome, Mate! It's good to have you aboard! Come, join us in some rollicking Pirate fun. Warm your timbers with a bit of grog, or one of our authentic Rum Drinks from the Pirate strongholds of the West Indies. Shake out your mainsail, trim your jib, and pull your captain's chair a little closer to hear the tale of Buccaneer Inn.

Not so long ago, lusty lads like Jean La Fitte, Blackbeard, Henry Morgan and others gathered here for, strangely enough, the same reason you are here tonight . . . to rest from the wearying battles and career their ships; to delight in good conversation and spin yarns of past adventures; to feast upon delicious food and imbibe good grog; to enjoy the company of beautiful women and plan for the next adventurous foray.

It is said much treasure was buried here. Doubloons and pieces of eight have actually been found on Longboat Key and an ancient wreck still lies off-shore nearby. But the greatest treasure of all was a sheaf of old Parchments containing priceless Pirate Recipes, now locked in our safe, one of them gives the directions for our famous steak marinade, broiled pirate-style over hickory-charcoal. You have the honor of enjoying the results of these recipes tonight. So take up your cutlass and carve that beautiful steak, the tantalizing flavor of which will linger long after your evening of adventure at the Buccaneer Inn.

For you Gourmet Buccaneers who like to watch the exciting drama of preparing good food, step up to our New Orleans Oyster Bar. Peek into our Treasure Chest of Steaks. Select your own if you prefer, and watch it broiled to perfection in our Charcoal Galley.

Fellow Buccaneers and Lady Buccaneers, we hope you will leave our cheerful Inn tonight pleased that you came and that you will soon again seek the pleasures and treasures of our friendly rendezvous.

The Chinese culinary art has been around for a long time — over 3,000 years. During this time, there have been countless changes and improvements so that today we can enjoy more than 8,000 dishes in Chinese cuisine.

At Wok & Roll, we do our best to surprise and delight you, in this limited space & time, with all kinds of exquisite dishes from the four major cooking styles of China.

In the northern regions, where wheat is grown, flour rather than rice is the main staple, so dumplings, steamed buns and noodle dishes are specialties. Easterners like their food well cooked, with dark soy sauce and often some sugar during the holidays. In the western regions, spicy hot dishes are preferred with flavors similar to Mexican cooking. Southerners like crisply cooked vegetables and subtle flavors.

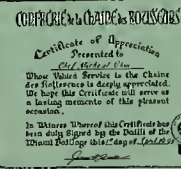

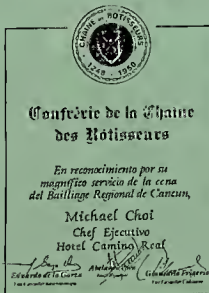

Will you prefer the style from the North, South, East or West? No, it will not be easy to choose one overall as we take you all over China through the delectable Chinese cuisine presented to you by the world's renowned chef Michael Choi.

Chef Michael Choi began working in restaurants at the age of 14. By 22 he was head chef of Sik Wei Sin in Hong Kong. With 20 years of experience, Choi has been the executive chef in famous restaurants in Hong Kong, the United States and Mexico.

In 1986, he won an award for running the "Fragrant Vegetable" restaurant in Monterey Park, California. In 1992, he won an award from the Gourmet Club of Miami for outstanding executive chef at Tony Chan's Water Club Chinese restaurant. Both in Mexico City and in Miami, Chef Michael received top honors from Chaine de Rotisseurs, a French culinary association that has been reviewing exquisite foods for hundreds of years. For the past 10 years, Chef Michael's culinary skill has been reviewed and recommended by more than 50 magazines and newspapers that include Gourmet Magazine, California Magazine, The Los Angeles Times and The New York Times.

But of course, you will taste for yourself when you have either a hot or cold appetizer, soup, main dish, dessert or snack at Wok & Roll. On behalf of all of us at Wok & Roll, thank you for letting us serve you and enjoy this moment. Bon Appétit!
